

fresh faced

MANHATTAN'S COSMETIC SURGEONS AND DERMATOLOGISTS TURN THE CITY INTO A FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH. BY KAITLIN CLARK

Dr. Alan Matarasso

With an eye for natural results, Dr. Matarasso offers a wide spectrum of procedures, including nonsurgical treatments such as Botox and MicroPeel, in addition to skin-tightening lasers, one of the most popular being ReFirme, which lifts and smooths the skin.
1009 Park Ave., 212-249-7500; alanmatarassomd.com

Dr. Amiya Prasad

With a degree from the Mount Sinai School of Medicine and board certifications, including a fellowship in oculofacial surgeries, Dr. Prasad performs face-lifts, various forms of eye lifts, and other facial surgeries.
61 E. 66th St., 212-265-8877; prasadcosmeticsurgery.com

Dr. Andrew Jacono

Dr. Jacono is a frequent contributor on Good Morning America and author of several medical textbooks. He centers his practice exclusively on facial cosmetic and reconstructive surgeries, and he created J Pak Systems, to be used before and after surgery to reduce swelling and bruising.
990 Fifth Ave., 212-570-2500; newyorkfacialplasticsurgery.com

Dr. Barry M. Weintraub

Dr. Weintraub specializes in artful injections, including Botox, fat transfers, collagen injections, and liquid face-lifts. Radiesse, a new, more substantial filler treatment composed of hydroxyapatite crystals, combats facial sagging and redefines the cheekbones, chin, and nose.

800A Fifth Ave., 212-737-7500; drbarryweintraub.com

Dr. Darrick E. Antell

This leading Manhattan doctor creates a welcoming atmosphere to quell patients' nerves. One of his most popular surgeries is the mini face-lift, which offers smaller incisions and shorter recovery time than a regular face-lift.
850 Park Ave., 212-988-4040; antell-md.com

Dr. Daniel C. Baker

Dr. Baker has been performing plastic surgery internationally for more than 25 years. His New York office enlists the expertise of a board-certified anesthesiologist and several private duty nurses to attend to patients after rhinoplasties, blepharoplasties, face-lifts, and liposuction. Patients often schedule several procedures for a single day in order to minimize anesthesia and recovery time.
65 E. 66th St., 212-734-9695; danielbakermd.com

Dr. Elliot T. Weiss

This Harvard-trained doctor specializes in Mohs micrographic surgery, recognized as the most effective treatment for skin cancer, in addition to dermatological, cosmetic, and laser surgeries. He continues to research skin disorders and develop new treatments to alleviate pain and reduce swelling and bruising.

317 E. 34th St., 212-686-7306; laserskinsurgery.com

Dr. Howard Sobel

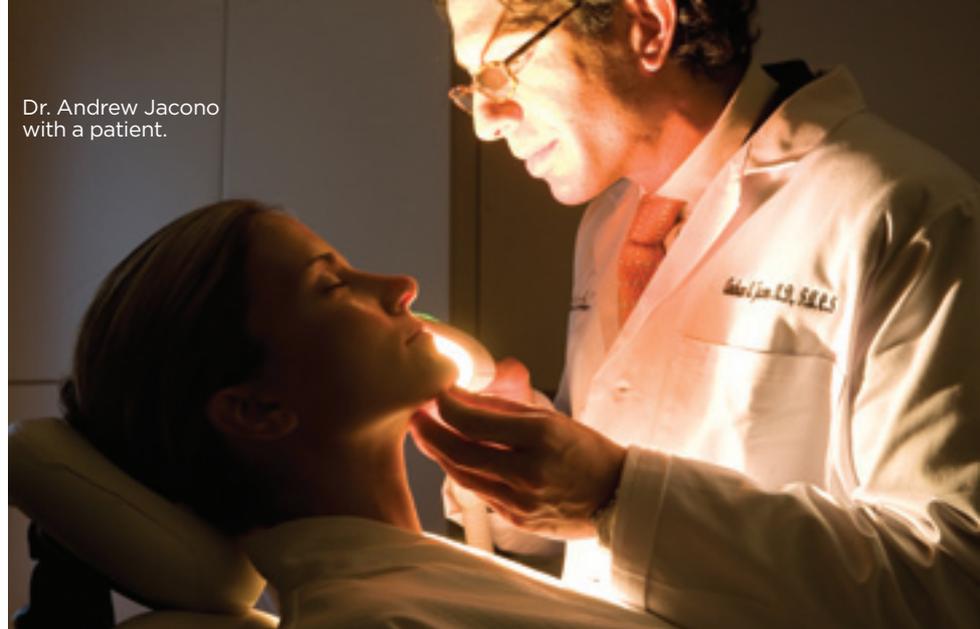

Dr. Sobel's Skin & Spa Cosmetic Surgery Center blends medicine with wellness by offering an array of noninvasive cosmetic procedures and spa treatments. The popular Vitamin C Environmental Protection treatment is an antioxidant-based facial mask to alleviate free radical damage, resulting in smoother, more hydrated skin.
960A Park Ave., 212-288-0060; drsobel.com

Dr. Paul Jarrod Frank

"I look at my practice as a high-end boutique medical facility," says the dermatologist and cosmetic surgeon. He specializes in volume-related rejuvenation, performing more than 400 liposuction procedures a year as well as various filler treatments to restore youthful facial structures.
Fifth Avenue Dermatology Surgery and Laser Center, 1049 Fifth Ave., 212-327-2919; pfrankmd.com

Dr. Sherrell J. Aston

A former president of the American Society for Aesthetic Plastic Surgery, Dr. Aston is considered by his peers to be a pioneer of modern face-lift techniques. He personalizes each surgery to fit the patient's facial contours and minimize scars.
728 Park Ave., 212-249-6000; draston.com G

Dr. Andrew Jacono with a patient.

BEAUTY BOOST

Personalized service is a must with aesthetician Berenice Rothenberg.

Berenice Rothenberg, a certified clinical electrologist and licensed cosmetologist, always loved the beauty industry. "It's about making people feel confident," she says. She opened Berenice Electrolysis & Personal Beauty Center 30 years ago and specializes in laser hair removal and skincare. Her personalization makes the preliminary consultation is non-negotiable. "It is necessary to ensure you get the right service for you and your body," she says.
14 E. 60th St., 212-355-7055; bereniceelectrolysis.com

It's all about confidence, says Berenice Rothenberg.